Printing in Australian Businesses, 2009-2011

This report provides an in-depth analysis of the $6 billion market for printing in Australian businesses.

It is based on a survey program of 885 interviews:

- 775 with businesses,
- 100 with commercial print providers,
- 10 informal trade interviews.

The printing market like that of the economy is enduring the effects of the global financial crisis. This is causing elevated levels of customer switching and frugality as well as accelerating the industries evolution/transformation - and opening up opportunities for well run operators.

Our research has revealed while overall market growth is subdued, the market is highly segmented and there are various bright 'pockets of growth' to tap into. With economic indicators pointing to a shallower downturn and faster recovery than initially predicted, we believe 2009 will prove to be a period where major competitive advantages are won and lost.

About this report

This report provides an extensive analysis of the printing market in Australia. It measures market size in various dimensions, identifies trends and behaviour as well as analysing products, services, brands and consumer segments. It also identifies the key players, their strengths/weaknesses and market shares. Finally it provides forecasts for the future.

It can be used as a strategic planning tool and 'opportunity spotter' as well as an industry reference manual. It is designed primarily for operators involved in the industry – whether as manufacturers/suppliers, distributors/dealers or print providers.

How this report can help you

This study is designed so industry participants can understand all key aspects of the market, the changes that are re-shaping it, assess where they are now and measure themselves against competitors. It will allow your business to identify where growth opportunities lie and provide a base for strategy development and future growth.

Overview

Subscribers will be able to use this report to:

- Identify where growth opportunities lie. Which areas of the market will grow fastest and which segments, categories or channels are you under-represented in?
- Adjust your 'offer' to appeal to business consumers needs. Research findings on purchasers/users will assist decisions on marketing/promotions, product development, where to allocate resources, pricing and distribution.
- Benchmark performance against your competitors. Confirm competitors (and your own) market positioning, in terms of customer purchase rates and market shares.
- Measure market/brand shares – and understand the strengths/weaknesses of individual operators and/or brands.

Report components

This report focuses on the fulfillment of businesses' print requirements – whether via 'in-house printing' on businesses own equipment - or through 'outsourced printing' via specialist print providers. Increasingly businesses are facing the choice between these two options, and this report extensively details their behaviour/purchasing in these competing sectors. We provide a high degree of consumer segmentation throughout, based on the five types/sizes of businesses, as outlined in the diagram below.

There is also comprehensive information on print providers – who supply outsourced print services to businesses – as well as the dealers/resellers who supply in-house printing products (paper, machines and cartridges).

Overview

Print sectors

This report deals with the everyday printing requirements of businesses in Australia. There are two separate but related areas of printing used by businesses and covered in this report:

1. Outsourced Printing – where an outside specialist ‘print provider’ such as a quick printer (eg Kwik Copy or Snap) or commercial printer (eg Geon or Blue Star Print) completes designated print jobs for the business.

The report contains a series of survey data on each of 20 of the most common types of print services – from brochures and banners to catalogues and books.

2. In-house Printing – where businesses ‘self-print’ documents on their own printing equipment. This may be on anything from high speed digital copiers/printers to inkjet or laser printers. Within this sector we cover the use and sales of products used in this type of printing (ie printing machines, paper and cartridges).

The report contains detailed survey data (including brand shares) for each of 22 individual product types – from OEM colour laser cartridges to high speed digital copiers/printers to various varieties of paper.

Chapter overview

Following the introduction, the report comprises 10 chapters, as described below:

Chapter 2 – Executive Summary. Outlines the key points taken from all chapters.

Chapter 3 – Market overview. Provides a diagrammatic summary, market size and growth (by consumer segment and sector), market shares, trends, drivers and key growth areas.

Chapter 4 – Business consumers. Includes extensive segmentation data. For each segment, expenditure, growth, a range of characteristics/behaviours and various business statistics.

Chapter 5 – Print services. The largest, most popular & fastest growing types of outsourced services. Major equipment types held and brand shares of machines.

Chapter 6 – Products for in-house printing. Each of the 22 products covered has a two-three page section including market size, growth, outlook, brand shares, reasons brands selected and detailed profile of purchasers (ie age, gender, role & method of purchase).

Chapter 7 – Managed print services (MPS). Sector size and outlook, usage rates, most receptive/ attractive segments, motivations to adopt, key suppliers and rating of suppliers.

Chapter 8 – Commercial print providers. Provides market shares, customer ratings and strength/ weakness analysis of major providers as well as awareness and usage rates.

Chapter 9 – Product dealers/resellers. Provides market shares, ratings and strength/ weakness analysis of major operators plus key factors used when choosing who to buy from.

Chapter 10 – Suppliers/distributors to print providers. Provides performance ratings of major paper and equipment suppliers - including a detailed strength/weakness analysis.

Chapter 11 – Outlook to 2011. Our projections of market developments, including growth by category and business segment, to 2011.

Methodology

Research methodology

This report is based on three separate programs of interviews.

1. Business survey (n=775)

We surveyed 775 business purchasers of printing products and services, using a structured set of questions. These surveys were commenced in February and completed in March 2009. The survey length was approximately 20 minutes. Sample quotas were set specifying the breakdown of the sample, to replicate the overall business population. The sample profile is listed below.

Respondent profile - business print purchasers
	Number	% Share
Business size
Micro (< 5 workers)	291	38
Small (5-19 workers)	187	24
